

Please don't let the power companies destroy the ability of those who listen to foreign broadcasts via shortwave. When other countries have outlawed BPL because of its damaging effect on emergency communications, I find it hard to understand why you want to allow the very thing that The Commission was set up to protect. There are many avenues to the internet and other even better technologies available, please take the time to do a full evaluation. I understand there is a lot of money at stake .. mostly for the power companies, but step back and take an honest logical look at how this will totally destroy much of the radio spectrum.
